Dear Finneytown Music Fan,

Happy Fall! Fall is one of my favorite times of the year, not just because of the pleasant temperatures and beautifully colored leaves, but also for the activities we get to enjoy. For our family, that means marching band competitions and football and volleyball games. Speaking of the marching band, aren't they looking great in their new uniforms? These uniforms were purchased with funds from both FMPA and the Board of Education, for which we have been saving for the past nine years! A BIG thank you should go out to our Uniform chairs, Cheryl Shrider and Marsha Grubbs for organizing the purchase and fitting of these uniforms, and Brenda Dennis for outfitting the color guard uniforms.

This is just one of the many ways that FMPA monies are being used to benefit our music students. Already this year, FMPA funds have been used for sheet music, choir dresses and student scholarships for private lessons. Money for our annual budget of approximately $25,000 is raised through efforts like our recent Savory Sweets Cookie Dough and Popcorn sale, the upcoming Luminaria Kit sale, and of course through memberships and patron donations. With the start of concert season upon us, please consider becoming a member of FMPA if you have not already done so. For just $25 per year, you receive free admission to all concerts for your immediate family and you help provide many of the things that your child will need in his/her music groups. Contact Membership chair, Angela Murphy (a.murphy720@gmail.com) or check our website (www.finneytownfmpa.org) for more information.

I hope you enjoy reading about music department happenings in this edition of Music Notes. I would be remiss if I didn't also thank our new newsletter editor Renee Keith for doing such a great job of keeping us all informed. Enjoy this busy time of year, and I'm sure we will be seeing each other soon at the PAC for an upcoming concert.

Best regards,

Penny

YOU ARE PART OF THE CONCERT

by Heidi Johnson

The audience members, as well as the musicians, are participants in every concert. When you participate in listening to the music, you will be taking an important part by sharing this experience with others in the audience and with the musicians on stage. Formal concerts are much different from rock concerts or sporting events, and require you to know some specific concert manners. In order to make a concert enjoyable for everyone, here are some tips to remember:

- * Enter the auditorium quietly. Once you have been seated, be alert to activity on the stage as the musicians take their place for the concert. At an orchestra concert, the concertmaster begins by tuning the orchestra. The audience must be quiet while the orchestra tunes.
- * When the conductor enters, it is customary to applaud politely. Whistling, yelling, or screaming is not appropriate at any time before, during, or after a concert.
- * Never stand or move around while music is being performed. It distracts listeners around you, as well as the performers. If you must leave for any reason, wait until a piece is finished, and the audience is applauding. Also, return to your seat only between numbers.
- * It is impolite to talk, or even whisper, while the music is being performed. Listeners and performers are also distracted by cell phones, sounds from programs, candy wrappers, jewelry and other objects. So turn off cell phones and remain still, and be thoughtful of others by talking or making sounds only between numbers.
- * It is impolite to wear hats or caps during a concert.
- * It is impolite to eat or drink refreshments during a concert.
- * Always say "excuse me," if you must pass in front of someone while going to or from your seat.
- * If you must cough or sneeze while the music is being performed, always try to muffle the sound with a tissue or handkerchief. Wait until the piece is finished if possible.
- * Watch the conductor when the music stops to decide whether or not to applaud. Some musical works have several parts or movements and the audience is expected to applaud only after all movements have been performed.
- * When leaving an auditorium, always return your seat cushion to the upright position to make it easy for others to pass through the rows.

If you always remember these simple rules, and use your own good manners, you can feel confident attending a concert anywhere.

The Cookies are Coming!

By Ric and Jenny Towner

Thanks to all of you who participated in our fall Savory Sweets music education fund raiser! The cookie dough and popcorn orders have been turned in and will be delivered to the High School campus gymnasium on November 17th. A team of music parent volunteers will have your orders sorted and ready for pick up between 3:00 and 6:00 pm. If you would like to pick up your order earlier in the day please call or email Jenny Towner (513-931-0178, ricjentowner@gmail.com) and let her know when you'd like us to have your order ready. We encourage early pick ups - especially of large orders!

It's critical that all orders are picked up and safely stored (refrigerated) or delivered on the 17th.

We always order some extra cookie dough for folks that decide they'd like to purchase a few more tubs. We'll have additional items available for sale at the high school on the 17th and from our home for as long as the inventory holds out!

Please contact Penny Sauer if you're available to help with unloading and sorting orders on the 17th for a 2 hour or longer shift - we always have a great time working together. See you on the 17th!

“DOUGH” All Around

Submitted by Cathy Zimmerly,
FMPA Treasurer

Thank you to all of you who have paid membership dues, purchased cookie dough, ordered luminaria kits, bought a cow bell, have ever attended Dinner And a Show, came to the Faculty concert, and who support our organization in so many other ways. I am proud to be connected with a group of very dedicated and involved group of parents. We have had successful fundraisers in the past but none of these can happen without the time and effort of our wonderful volunteers.

We raise funds to support our Music staff and their students. Monthly treasurer reports are available on the FMPA web site at <http://www.finneytownfmpa.org/subpages/Treasurer.html> Examination of these reports will show how committed FMPA is to supporting our Music staff from the elementary to the secondary level including Band, Chorus, and Orchestra. Soon, FMPA will be awarding monies directly to students who have earned “cookie dough” cash. In the past, students have sold enough cookie dough to pay for expenses such as instrument rental fees, voice lessons, and band camp. This year, we expect to give back over $1500 to those students who earned cash by selling cookie dough. Packed into those little square tubs of cookies is not just delicious dough but “dough” to encourage and support every music student.

We hope you will support our students and staff throughout the year not just financially but by attending concerts and contests as well. Thank you for your support!

CARE & CUSTODY OF CONCERT WEAR

By Brenda Dennis, Concert uniforms chair

Your student is part of a music ensemble at the high school, and they come home with a dress, tuxedo, or skirt—now what?

First, FMPA sets aside funds every year for the purchase, repair, and maintenance of the concert wear. Thank you for your support! All concert wear purchased by FMPA is considered a donation to the school (and is school property, like textbooks). Students are assigned their clothing, take it home, wear it for each concert, and return it in May. It gets pretty warm under the stage lights, so if your student's clothing gets a little "ripe", we suggest the following:

Please hang them up at home. Really! Your student's locker (or Mr. McKee's classroom) are not good places to keep concert clothes.

Tuxes are DRY CLEAN ONLY. A shower and a clean shirt before the concert will help, but if your son's clothing starts to stand up by itself, a visit to the dry cleaner is in order. Ties and cummerbunds can be spot cleaned with a damp cloth.

Ladies' dresses, black skirts, and black tops are all washable; refer to the care label (machine wash cold, mild detergent, low dryer or hang to dry). Please don't wash these items in the load following bleaching those tidy whites! Bleach residue and black skirts do not mix! Dresses and skirts can also be carefully ironed, on a low temperature.

Size changes happen over the school year. Feel free to lower hems if needed (or contact me if needles and thread are not your friend), and let me know if your student needs a size change in their uniform. We want them looking their best on stage, so fit changes are not a problem. The only rule for alterations is please don't do anything we cannot undo. No cutting away of extra length, for example—we will need the longer legs when your son hits his growth spurt. When the students look sharp, they grab the audience's attention. Any questions or comments, feel free to contact Brenda Dennis, @931-8312.

YOU’VE HEARD IT SAID...

that people look and act like their pets, but what does your instrument say about you? Read on to find out.

Picture your favorite tuba player, the soprano hitting the high notes, or the orchestra student sidling up to the bass. Do certain images come to mind? In this article, Ms. MacLellan, who is a doctoral music student at Indiana university, contemplates how students personalities often match up to stereotypical views we have of musicians. She cites the following from Tim Lautzenheiser’s book, Rare Birds of the Band Shell:

Lautzenheiser describes each instrument of the band as a species of bird. Flutists, or “Flutarium Perfectus”, are described as perfectionists in everything they do, always behaving well and striving for meticulous performance. Trumpet players, or “Hollywood Screamerium Grandeur” are known to be leaders of the flock. Possessing a brash and forceful personality, trumpet players desire to be in the spotlight and strive to outdo one another.

She writes, “While we can appreciate these stereotypes as inside jokes among musicians, in every joke, there lies a tiny seed of truth.” MacLellan goes on to explore what causes people to attach predetermined identities and personalities to players of different instruments and members of different ensembles. She discovers fascinating Myers-Briggs connections among students involved in some form of musical ensemble (comparing them to each other as well as those students not involved in music in any way). For example, MacLellan discusses research that suggests that music ensemble students differ in personality from their nonmusical peers (music students as a whole have a much stronger preference for Feeling over Thinking; for Intuition over Sensing, and Perceiving over Judging). If this notion of personality development as it relates to music or vice versa has captured your interest, you can read the entire article on the FMPA web site as follows:
